1 ABSTRACT

2 Assemblies and methods for automatically and electronically controlling and directing 3 the input of solutions into solution receptacles are disclosed. An assembly may deliver an 4 electronic, computer-generated signal having a specific address via hardwires or using 5 wireless methods. One assembly includes a solution reservoir, a solution receptacle feeder
6 and a computer to control the delivery of solution to a solution receptacle. The assembly may 7 also include a number of transmitters, receivers, or transceivers for delivering the computer-8 generated signals. The assembly may also include any of variety of mechanisms for use in 9 mobilizing the solution delivery assembly or the solution receptacles or both. Each of the 10 solution receptacles for use of the assembly may have its own identifier.
